Overview

Enjoy the benefits of a big communications solution without the big price! VME Elite is a unique voicemail system designed specifically for small businesses. Though small in size, it is big on features, with the power, functionality and versatility of a large office system.

Unified Messaging – allows users to receive their Voice Messages as an attachment to an email in their mailbox package (e.g. Outlook)

This compact, solid-state system incorporates leading edge technology, including digital signal processing (DSP) and flash memory, in state-of-the-art 19-inch case rack mountable format with optional wall mounting brackets.

The VME Elite is available in four and eight ports, they offer a complete array of voice messaging features in the right size for your needs. They provide full auto attendant, offsite notification, and fax tone (CNG) detection.

They support 500 mailboxes and up to 72 hours of recording time (VME Elite 8 port), and can be programmed either through a touch tone telephone or a PC via a Windows-based GUI.

Vocal VME is a unique and full featured, yet cost effective communications solution, specifically designed to meet your needs. Maximum performance with minimal maintenance . . . It's the perfect solution!

Every day, businesses are realizing that they must become more efficient and allocate additional resources to remain competitive. Technology has played an important role and is becoming more affordable. With Vocal VME, smaller companies can now afford a robust and feature-rich voice processing system that streamlines communications and produces a "big company" appearance. Vocal is a solution that has no equal when comparing features, functionality and price.
